

BOY, 13, KILLED BY SHOT THROUGH HEAD

Treasury Bases Current Policy on Effort to Revive Investment

WASHINGTON—About half the moves which serious Henry Morgenthau makes in the real of high finance these days are based on the unannounced effort to get private capital working.

Without this monetary flow into business channels Young Henry—and more especially his chief in the White House—have concluded that recovery will be a long time coming.

So they are out to restore bankers' confidence. One move in this direction was the recent flotation of Home Owners' Loan Corporation bonds through a banking syndicate headed by Lehman Brothers. The syndicate received a commission of six dollars per hundred for selling the bonds.

Behind this was partly the desire to show goodwill to the bankers, partly the plan to get the bonds scattered among a wide group of people. Hitherto, the banks themselves have bought Government bonds until their vaults are overflowing with them.

This time Morgenthau wanted the bonds sold on somewhat the same plan as the Liberty Loans. For this type of selling—through salesmen—a commission of $6 was not unreasonable.

But the bankers did not diffuse their selling. Instead of sending out salesmen they bartered the bonds off by telephone and telegraph to a relatively small group. Young Henry got his money, but his first try at bankers' co-operation was a fizzle.

Irrefutable

A Florida farmer wrote Harry Hopkins the other day that his Federal relief workers were killing FERA cattle on his premises. The farmer protested against his property being so used. Someone in Hopkins' office wrote a reply asking for specific facts.

A week or so later there arrived at FERA offices a crate. In it was a dead steer. It had been dead some time. It was delivered, however, to the correspondence division of the FERA.

On it was a card from the Florida farmer which read: "Here is the evidence."

Power Probe

While President Roosevelt was touring the Tennessee Valley inspecting the vast construction projects of the TVA, closed-door discussions were in progress in liberal quarters in the Capital over the desirability of seeking a new power investigation at the coming session of Congress.

The progressives are in possession of information which they believe indicates that private power interests have launched a secret drive to obstruct and delay TVA plans.

One of the strong suspicions of the liberals is that the recently raised outcry of southern coal operators that the hydro-electric development program of the TVA will mean destruction of their business is a camouflaged attack by power corporations.

TVA Director David Lilienthal publicly intimated such a view in a recent Chattanooga speech before the Southern Economists Association.

"Not the TVA program, but other deep seated causes have brought the coal industry to a crisis," he said. "The TVA program offers a definite basis of constructive aid to the coal industry."

"In the light of the facts about the coal industry, who do you think is behind the desperate efforts to deny the South the greatest program of regional development which has ever been projected in this country?"

Whether a probe will be demanded—

CORN AND HOG PLAN FOR NEW YEAR IS GIVEN

Producers Allowed Increases in Production Under AAA Program

MAY GROW CROPS

Effort Made to Hold Present Balance

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Modifying the drastic corn-and-hog program of the past year, the AAA today had offered producers marked increases in production of both commodities.

Whereas the initial program enforced cuts of 25 per cent for hogs and upwards of 30 per cent for corn, under the 1932-33 base figures, the present scheme requires only 10 per cent reduction under this output.

Bounties for participating growers will aggregate $165,000,000. Allotments on the current program will reach $350,000,000.

POLICY ALTERED

An important deviation of land policy was inaugurated under the new plan, instead of rigidly restricted acreage farmers will be permitted to grow hog-feeding crops of various types, so long as they remain within the general limit of the program.

The new plan was explained as an effort to maintain the present delicate balance between available feed and the nation's hog population, both materially affected, first by artificial reduction, and second, by drought.

H. R. Tolley, assistant administrator of the AAA, today laid before the gathering of land grant colleges here, an outline for a permanent crop control plan replacing the present various contracts with a single agreement covering all farm acreage.

He indicated that this is the line the AAA will follow in its long-range plan, following termination of the present emergency plans.

Girls, 6 and 13, Brutally Beaten, Found Near Clifton Forge, Va., Suspects Taken To Roanoke Jail For Protection.

CLIFTON FORGE, Va., Nov. 19.—Brutally beaten and attacked, the bodies of two girls, aged 6 and 13 years, were found in a wooded section one quarter of a mile from the city limits today.

Four negroes were arrested shortly after the bodies were found. They are Philip Jones, his wife, John Pryor and Arthur Smith. They were rushed under heavy guard to the Roanoke jail.

The girls, Alice and Ellen, the eldest, bore severe cuts and bruises according to Dr. Louis Houss, coroner. Both girls died from possible skull fractures, he stated.

The bodies were found early this morning in a section called Scott's Farm, which is covered with woods and brushlands. Philip Jones and his wife lived near the site.

CROWD GATHERS

As word of the murders spread throughout the surrounding territory, angry groups began converging on the local police station.

Fearing mob violence, local police officials hurried the negroes to Roanoke, 35 miles away.

Clifton Forge police refused to state what formal charges had been placed against the suspects, if any.

TWO FOUND DEAD

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—A mystery of the sea was slowly unfolding today as meagre radio reports trickled in from the Pacific.

The bodies of two persons were found on lonely Marchena Island in the Galapagos group by the San Diego, Cal., tuna fishing boat Santo Armano. Whether they were those of an "Adam and Eve" remained in doubt.

First reports from the vessel stated the bodies were those of a man and woman and indicated their identity to be Alfred Rudolph Lorenz and Mrs. Margaret Wittmer.

Later radio advices from Captain Manuel Rodriguez, master of the Santo Armano, stated in their belief the bodies were those of two men—probably Lorenz and Frank Wittmer, husband of Mrs. Margaret Wittmer.

Radio reports indicated the two persons had been cast upon barren Marchena Island in a small skiff, had put up a futile fight against thirst and starvation and then their fight for life as they waited in vain for some passing ship to sight their distress signal flying from an improvised flag pole.

GIRL HELD FOR ABDUCTION OF KENTUCKY YOUNGSTER

Traced to Tennessee Town As Landlord Reads Story of Kidnaping in Newspapers; Girl Says Boy Wanted To Go With Her.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 19.—Department of justice men, scourge of kidnapers, prepared today to take 18-year-old Lou Givens to Lexington, Ky., where she must face a charge of abducting Jackie Gibbons 4-year-old boy of that city.

A Lexington detective returned the boy to the home of his father, John L. Gibbons, yesterday. He had been missing since Thursday.

Although the young Cincinnati woman said the boy had "followed her away from home last Thursday," Chattanooga police declared today that kidnaping charges would be pressed against her to the limit.

Miss Givens and the child were discovered in a north Chattanooga house by officers Sunday. The landlord read newspaper stories of the missing boy, and notified police.

Radio patrolmen arrested the woman, who claimed Jackie was her brother. Jackie himself claimed relationship, but admitted his identity through the persuasion of an ice cream cone.

Miss Givens said the boy had joined her in Lexington, leaving his play to beg a piece of candy she was eating. She said she told him to "go back," but that he cried and she decided to take him along.

"If they caught me, I was determined to tell the whole thing," she said.

Youth Loses Two Fingers In Explosion

Ashville Boy Taken to Hospital After Rocket, Left By Celebration, is Blasted.

Ralph McNeal, 14-year-old twin son of Mrs. Martha McNeal, N. Long-st, Ashville, met with a distressing accident Saturday afternoon while playing with some powder which badly injured the thumb and two fingers of his right hand.

From information obtainable it is learned that he and several companions found a part of a rocket unexploded in Community park. The rocket was believed left after the Fourth of July celebration. The youths took the explosive to a vacant lot near the Norfolk & Western railroad in North Ashville and while the McNeal boy was busy pouring the powder from the rocket to a piece of tin on the ground, Ralph Myers, a playmate, struck a match and the whole charge was exploded. The McNeal boy's thumb and two fingers were badly torn.

The injured boy was at once taken to the office of Dr. R. S. Hosler who administered first aid. He was then taken to St. Francis hospital where Dr. Elliott Peters, a former Ashville resident, dressed the injury.

It was thought the thumb could be saved but portions of the two fingers were amputated. He will probably remain at the hospital for some time.

DIES IN FIELD AS 2 YOUTHS RUN FOR HELP

Coroner Returns Verdict of Accidental Death After Questioning

LEANING ON RIFLE

Leroy Starkey, William Tatman With Slain Boy

Hunting with a .22 caliber rifle his parents did not know he possessed, Leslie Clemmons, 13, of Maplewood-ave, was dead today and two of his "buddies," Leroy Starkey, 13, and William Tatman, 14, were recounting a terrifying experience.

The Clemmons boy, a seventh grade pupil at Corwin-st school, was shot through the right temple, the bullet lodging in the cranial cavity. After an investigation of all angles of the tragedy, Dr. C. E. Sowers, county coroner, pronounced death accidental. It was reported a further investigation might be made.

BOTH QUESTIONED

The Starkey and Tatman boys were questioned separately by Deputy Sheriff Bryan Custer and by Dr. Sowers and both contended Clemmons was shot while he was leaning on the rifle. The accident happened about 1:15 p. m. Sunday on property owned by Robert Smith, S. Court-st, in a field near the junction of the Chesapeake and Ohio and Pennsylvania railroads, west of S. Court-st.

The boys had been playing football on a lot in "near town" before the rifle started to hunt. Starkey and Tatman told officers that Clemmons took the gun from the house and told them he had five bullets. They said they knew he had more than that. They walked down the Pennsylvania tracks for a short distance then started through the field. Clemmons shot at a sparrow, one of the boys said, then picked out a bolt on a fence gate as a target. "He wouldn't let either of us touch the gun," his playmates said.

"Les sat down on the ground," Starkey, a Corwin-st fifth grade pupil, said "and shot several times at the bolt. We (he and Tatman) stayed back of him because we were afraid if he did hit the bolt the lead might fly back and hit us."

"After he had shot a while he was leaning on the gun when some way it went off and he fell back without saying anything."

RIFLE OLD ONE

The rifle was an old one with a substitute stock. The stock was not fastened tightly and would "break" to one side. The stock was apparently on the ground and the barrel straight up in the air when it discharged. Starkey demonstrated to officers how it happened.

"After Les fell over," Starkey

OWN BRAIN - CHILD FATAL TO INVENTOR

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—On the threshold of fame and fortune for a discovery in organic chemistry of great industrial and commercial significance, Dr. Erich Von Gubauer-Pueschke was dead here today, a victim of his brain-child.

The 32-year-old Northwestern professor died as the result of inhaling hydrogen chloride, which seared the lining of his lungs, as he worked in his laboratory putting the finishing touches to his discovery—a rubber fabric as transparent as window glass.

One of his assistants said today that the invention is practically complete and that a large concern is about to proceed with commercial production. The fabric, he said, is impervious to water and will not decompose over a long period of time.

Star of Stage, Screen Director Passes Away

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19.—A sudden heart attack early today wrote finis to the notable stage and screen career of Willard Mack.

Death came to the famous writer, playwright, actor and motion picture director as he lay in bed at his home in Hollywood. He had not been feeling well and had laid down. He called a maid "to open the door," gasped and was dead before aid could reach him.

Mack was as celebrated on Broadway as he was in Hollywood. He acted in many of his famous stage successes and acted and directed many of the screen successes he had produced in the past 25 years.

EIGHT BUCKEYES TO END GRID CAREERS

COLUMBUS, Nov. 19—A tumultuous homecoming celebration of the 34 to 0 victory over Michigan last Saturday, which turned Columbus topsy-turvy for two days, became history today as the Buckeyes settled down to prepare for the last grid game of the season here next week.

Coach Francis Schmidt, Buckeye mentor, was to open the last week of grid practice today with light sessions. During the week the practice will become more serious, with the hope that an Ohio victory over Iowa might still give the Buckeyes at least a piece of the Big Ten championship.

Should Wisconsin beat Minnesota and Indiana win over Purdue, Ohio State, if it beats the Hawkeyes, would step into the first place in the Big Ten, now jointly occupied by Purdue and Minnesota.

HEPKIN BANGED UP

The 34 players which Schmidt used in defeating Michigan came out of the game with but slight injuries, trainer Tucker P. Smith said. Dick Heekin, halfback, suffered an injured knee, but to date that was the most serious casualty reported.

Ohio State's chances for a victory over the Hawkeyes today seemed bright.

Ossie Solem, Iowa coach who scouted the Buckeyes Saturday while his team rested out an open date, remarked about the Buckeye power on the forward wall, which continually broke through the Michigan line to smear Wolverine plays before they were even well under way.

Particularly bright on the defense was the work of Captain Regis Monahan and Inwood Smith at the guard posts.

EIGHT TO GRADUATE

Monahan was being looked upon here today as a possible All-American selection at one of the guard posts. He will close his collegiate football career against Iowa, as will eight more of the Buckeye regulars.

Damon (Buzz) Wetzel, fullback; John McAtee, fullback; Davey Jones, halfback; George Neal, guard; Jack Smith halfback; Lud Yards, tackle; Jim Scott, tackle; and Bud Cox, an end.

About This And That

BY THE
SECOND GUESSER

WESLEYAN STOPPED

This Cincinnati Bearcat team looms as a possible champion of the Buckeye association today after its 13-6 victory over Ohio Wesleyan last Saturday. The Bearcats have only Miami to defeat to clinch the title. If Ohio Wesleyan defeats Ohio University at Delaware next Saturday the Bishops can gain a tie for the title providing Miami bumps Cincinnati. Then Miami and Wesleyan would be tied.

OFFICIATING LURID

Wesleyan supporters didn't think much of the officiating in the Cincinnati game, two rulings, one after Joe Whalen made a long gain and another after Howard White sprinted for a nice gain, hurting the Bishop chances.

5 WRONG IN 15

Several unexpected upsets knocked the ears off predictions, Saturday. The Second Guesser "picked" 15 of the top choices and had only 10 of them correct. He missed on Ohio Wesleyan and Cincinnati, Auburn and Florida, Duquesne and Pitt, Princeton and Yale and Illinois and Wisconsin. Those in which he was right were O. S. U. and Michigan, Purdue and Fordham, Tulane and Kentucky, Notre Dame and Northwestern, Columbia and Penn. College and Syracuse, Pitt and Navy, Tennessee and Vanderbilt, Minnesota and Chicago, and Ohio U. and Dayton.

SMITH REAL STAR

If ever an Ohio State line player played an all-American game that was what Inwood Smith, Buckeye guard, did last Saturday. Smith, who pulls out of the line on defense, then slips into any spot he can find where there is a chance to break through, did about everything a lineman can possibly do. Time after time he was through the Michigan line, smashing the play before it got underway. He made the first two tackles of the game.

YALE VICTORY ENDS RECORD

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 19—Their hopes for a second undefeated season squelched by a determined Yale team which took the Tigers into camp Saturday, Princeton football fans looked back today on a glorious record: fifteen straight wins; seventeen contests without a defeat; 518 points against 40 for the opposition; 19 games without failing to score; 12 shut outs.

Defeat was an entirely new sensation for the Princeton sophomores and juniors, who never had previously played on a losing eleven, either freshman or varsity. It was particularly tough on Garry Le Van, ace half back, who had hoped to go through his collegiate football days without having the opposition score while he was in the game.

ZUPPKE UPSET

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 19—Coach Bob Zuppke brought his Illinois home from Madison in excellent physical condition and downcast spiritually as a result of Wisconsin's victory and the quashing of the Illini's hope to share the conference championship. The varsity was excused from drill today. Two convalescents, Ed Gryboski and Crane Portman, will be available for the Chicago game Saturday.

MANDERS' TOE RETAINS LEAD FOR BEAR 11

Boots Field Goal to Give Chicago 10-9 Victory Over New York; Lions Lead.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—The great winning streak of the Chicago Bears, National football league champions, remained intact today thanks to the educated toe of Jack Manders, whose field goal with only fifty seconds left to play enabled the Bears to nose out the New York Giants, 10 to 9, before 55,000 fans at the Polo grounds yesterday. It was pro football's second largest crowd of all time.

The game was a titanic and dramatic battle, featured by savage tackling and frequent fisticuffs, the latter being overlooked by the officials.

FUMBLE DOES IT

Trailing 9 to 0 with but eight minutes to play, the Bears drove 47 yards to a touchdown in four plays, Nagurski ripping the New York line to shreds and feathers scoring. Manders, rushed into the game, kicked the important extra point. A few minutes later he split the uprights for a field goal from the 24-yard line after Krause of the Giants fumbled.

Strong scored for the eastern leaders in the second period and they picked up two more points on a safety.

The Bears haven't been beaten in their last 29 games, including league and exhibition contests. They are tied with Detroit for first place in the western division of the league. Detroit swamped St. Louis yesterday, 40 to 7, for its tenth straight victory.

GREEN BAY BLANKED

Chicago's Cardinals blanked the Green Bay Packers 9 to 0 at Milwaukee. Griffith's 65-yard run for a touchdown featured.

Brooklyn whitewashed Pittsburgh 10 to 0 with Ralph Kercival doing all the scoring. Jim Levy, former shortstop of the St. Louis Browns, starred for the losers.

Led by Cliff Battles, who scored both touchdowns, the Boston Redskins beat Philadelphia 14 to 7.

BRIGHTER OUTLOOK FOR 'BEEF' FEEDER

Huge Supplies of Year Ago Cut by Drouth and Demand For Cattle.

Dark a year ago, the outlook for the beef cattle feeder has been brightened by drouth and relief measures.

The abnormal supply of cattle on farms and ranges at the first of the year, estimated at 67 million head, has been cut to very near the normal supply on farms in 1934.

Even excluding the government slaughter of cattle for relief purposes, purchased from drouth-stricken farmers, the slaughter has been the largest on record. In other words, in 1934 American people ate 15 per cent more beef than they did a year ago.

Commercial slaughtering are expected to total 15½ million head. Government purchases totaled 7½ million head.

In July, August and September, farmers in the corn-belt states bought large supplies of stocker and feeder cattle. In the five eastern corn-belt states, where the drouth was less severe, farmers bought from the range country two and a half times as many cattle for winter feeding, in these three months.

But in October, feeder purchases dropped off so sharply that for the four-month period, July through October, the number bought for feeding in corn-belt feed lots was only 8 per cent greater than the number purchased a year ago.

The sharp reduction in supplies is expected to raise the general level of beef prices during the coming year. Ohio State University economists predict better grades of heavy cattle will bring substantial premiums over similar grades of lighter weight.

No upswing is expected in cattle production until 1936, owing to depleted breeding herds and limited feed supplies.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

THE Worst Joke I heard today was told to me by Miss Belle Astaire, of the Astaires. You know them, the brother and sister, Fred and Belle Astaire, who have made such a tremendous hit in "Lady Be Good." They are over here in London now, and they are a very big success. She was out to the Studio today with Miss Dorothy Gish, who I am playing in a Picture with. You know when an Actor or Actress has nothing else to do they go and see some other one work. She had her Mother with her and I didn't get any real chance to have a good chat with her. At the table I heard the following and advised her at the finish to go into her dance.

"I hear young Smith has gone on the stage for good now. How is he doing?"

"Jolly well, I hear," said the friend. "They say he is making a great hit as a Male Impersonator."

On The Spot

San Francisco's popular Frank Belgrano, new National Commander of the American Legion, is on the spot in a royal way.

Elected at the Miami convention that went on record in favor of immediate payment of the bonus, Belgrano has no choice but to go down the line for that policy.

But going down the line is going to be a bitter pill for Belgrano. He is an executive of a large California banking firm, as well as an official of two national insurance companies. Both these interests have been in the vanguard of the opposition to immediate bonus payment.

Golfer

Three days in Washington under the conservative tutelage of his colleague, Senator Pat Harrison, had marked moderating influence on Mississippi's wildman, Senator-elect Theodore Bilbo.

But the little haranguer wasn't too tamed to boast to RFC Chairman Jesse Jones how he got a golf course on his farm down south.

The two men were sitting in the White House waiting room waiting to keep appointments with the President. Jones, a skilled golfer brought up the subject of the game.

"Senator," he said, "do you like the game?"

"I certainly do," Bilbo replied, "and I like to have my golf course handy. So I rounded up a bunch of CCC boys working in my neighborhood and had them lay out a few holes on my farm. Mighty convenient, I can tell you."

TRIO CLAIMED IN OHIO WEEK END CRASHES

No Fatalities Reported In Traffic To Football Game; Pedestrian Hit.

By International News Service

Autos which crowded Ohio streets and highways Saturday and Sunday today had claimed only three lives, the lowest week-end traffic toll record for the state in months.

Despite the football games throughout the state and the autumnal weather, which attracted throngs to the roads, only one of the three fatalities reported was on a highway. Accidents in Cincinnati and Cleveland claimed the other two lives.

The dead were: Frank Adams, 68, of New Lexington.

Holger L. Hass, 59, of Lakewood.

Bruce L. Carter, 35, Cincinnati. Adams, a contractor in New Lexington, was killed late Saturday while walking on a road outside of the town. He was struck by an auto driven by Robert Starner.

Hass was fatally injured in Cleveland when his auto crashed into a tree.

A hit-skip driver was blamed for the Cincinnati death after Carter, a garage mechanic, died of injuries received Saturday when he was struck by an unidentified auto.

In Columbus, mecca of thousands for the Ohio State-Michigan football game, no fatalities were reported, although a dozen persons were injured in auto accidents.

Mrs. Catherine Ford, 24, narrowly escaped death when her car was struck by a passenger train on a grade crossing in the city.

Street accidents were numerous, and several persons were slightly injured in collisions between street cars and automobiles. Thousands walked to and from work because omnibus traffic was tied up.

NO MORE ENERGY? ... GET A LIFT WITH A CAMEL!

Whether their daily tasks carry them through crowded city streets, or deep impenetrable jungles, Camel smokers in all walks of life agree on the delightful "lift" they get from smoking a Camel. Mrs. William LaVarre, famous explorer, whose treks through dangerous South American jungles have taught her the vital necessity of keeping up her energy reserve, has this to say about Camels: "We took 30,000 Camels with us on our last expedition. Any time I'm tired, I just stop and smoke a Camel. It wakes up my energy in no time. And smoking Camels steadily, I find, does not affect one's nerves."

BOY, 13, KILLED BY SHOT THROUGH HEAD

Treasury Bases Current Policy on Effort to Revive Investment

WASHINGTON -- About half the moves which serious Henry Morgenthau makes in the real of high finance these days are based on the unannounced effort to get private capital working.

Without this monetary flow into business channels Young Henry--and more especially his chief in the White House--have concluded that Recovery will be a long time coming.

So they are out to restore bankers' confidence.

One move in this direction was the recent flotation of Home Owners' Loan Corporation bonds through a banking syndicate headed by Lehman Brothers. The syndicate received a commission of six dollars per hundred for selling the bonds.

Behind this was partly the desire to show goodwill to the bankers, partly the plan to get the bonds scattered among a wide group of people. Hitherto, the banks themselves have bought Government bonds until their vaults are overflowing with them.

This time Morgenthau wanted the bonds sold on somewhat the same plan as the Liberty Loans. For this type of selling--through salesmen--a commission of $6 was not unreasonable.

But the bankers did not diffuse their selling. Instead of sending out salesmen, they started the bonds off by telephone and telegraph to a relatively small group. Young Henry got his money, but his first try at bankers' co-operation was a fizzle.

Irrefutable

A Florida farmer wrote Hair-breadth Harry Hopkins the other day that his Federal relief workers were killing FERA cattle on his premises. The farmer protested against his property being so used. Someone in Hopkins' office wrote a reply asking for specific facts.

A week or so later there arrived at FERA offices a crate. In it was a dead steer. It had been dead some time. It was delivered, however, to the correspondence division of the FERA.

On it was a card from the Florida farmer which read:

"Here is the evidence."

Power Probe

While President Roosevelt was touring the Tennessee Valley inspecting the vast construction projects of the TVA, closed-door discussions were in progress in liberal quarters in the Capital over the desirability of seeking a new power investigation at the coming session of Congress.

The progressives are in possession of information which they believe indicates that private power interests have launched a secret drive to obstruct and delay TVA plans.

One of the strong suspicions of the liberals is that the recently raised outcry of southern coal operators that the hydro-electric development program of the TVA will mean destruction of their business is a camouflaged attack by power corporations.

TVA Director David Lilienthal publicly intimated such a view in a recent Chattanooga speech before the Southern Economists Association.

"Not the TVA program, but other deep seated causes have brought the coal industry to a crisis," he said. "The TVA program offers a definite basis of constructive aid to the coal industry."

"In the light of the facts about the coal industry, who do you think is behind the desperate efforts to deny the South the great program of regional development which has ever been projected in this country?"

CORN AND HOG PLAN FOR NEW YEAR IS GIVEN

Producers Allowed Increases in Production Under AAA Program

MAY GROW CROPS

Effort Made to Hold Present Balance

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19--Modifying the drastic corn-and-hog program of the past year, the AAA today had offered producers marked increases in production of both commodities.

Whereas the initial program enforced cuts of 25 per cent for hogs and upwards of 30 per cent for corn, under the 1932-33 base figures, the present scheme requires only 10 per cent reduction under this output.

Bounties for participating growers will aggregate $165,000,000. Allotments on the current program will reach $350,000,000.

POLICY ALTERED

An important deviation of land policy was inaugurated under the new plan, instead of rigidly restricted acreage. Farmers will be permitted to grow hog-raising crops of various types, so long as they remain within the general limit of the program.

The new plan was explained as an effort to maintain the present delicate balance between available feed and the nation's hog population, both materially affected, first by artificial reduction, and second, by drought.

H. R. Tolley, assistant administrator of the AAA, today laid before the gathering of land grand colleges here, an outline for a permanent crop control plan replacing the present various contracts with a single agreement covering all farm acreage.

PLAN LONG-RANGE
He indicated that this is the line the AAA will follow in its long-range plan, following termination of the present emergency plans.

Girls, 6 and 13, Brutally Beaten, Found Near Clifton Forge, Va., Suspects Taken To Roanoke Jail For Protection.

CLIFTON FORGE, Va., Nov. 19.--Brutally beaten and attacked, the bodies of two girls, aged 6 and 13 years, were found in a wooded section one quarter of a mile from the city limits today.

Four negroes were arrested shortly after the bodies were found. They are Philip Jones, his wife, John Pryor and Arthur Smith. They were rushed under heavy guard to the Roanoke jail.

The girls, Alice and Ellen, were daughters of T. R. Hill, local painter. The body of Ellen, the eldest, bore severe cuts and bruises according to Dr. Louis Houss, coroner. Both girls died from possible skull fractures, he stated.

The bodies were found early this morning in a section called Scott's Farm, which is covered with woods and brushlands. Philip Jones and his wife lived near the site.

CROWD GATHERS

TWO FOUND DEAD

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.--A mystery of the sea was slowly unfolding today as meagre radio reports trickled in from the Pacific.

The bodies of two persons were found on the Marchena Island in the Galapagos group by the San Diego, Cal., tuna fishing boat Santo Armano. Whether they were those of an "Adam and Eve" remained in doubt.

First reports from the vessel stated the bodies were those of a man and woman and indicated their identity to be Alfred Rudolph Lorenz and Mrs. Margaret Wittmer.

Later radio advices from Captain Manuel Rodriguez, master of the Santo Armano, stated in their belief the bodies were those of two men--probably Lorenz and Frank Wittmer, husband of Mrs. Margaret Wittmer.

Radio reports indicated the two persons had been cast upon barren Marchena Island in a small skiff, had put up a futile fight against thirst and starvation and lost their fight for life as they waited in vain for some passing ship to sight their distress signal flying from an improvised flag pole.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 19.--Department of justice men, scourge of kidnappers, prepared today to take 18-year-old Lou Gibbons to Lexington, Ky., where she must face a charge of abducting Jackie Gibbons 4-year-old boy of that city.

A Lexington detective returned the boy to the home of his father, John L. Gibbons, yesterday. He had been missing since Thursday.

Although the young Cincinnati woman said the boy had "followed her away from home last Thursday," Chattanooga police declared today that kidnapping charges would be pressed against her to the limit.

Miss Gibbons and the child were discovered in a north Chattanooga house by officers Sunday. The landlord read newspaper stories of the missing boy, and notified police.

Radio patrolmen arrested the woman, who claimed Jackie was her brother. Jackie himself claimed relationship, but admitted his identity through the persuasion of an ice cream cone.

Miss Gibbons said the boy had joined her in Lexington, leaving his play to beg a piece of candy she was eating. She said she told him to "go back," but that he cried and she decided to take him along.

"If they caught me, I was determined to tell the whole thing," she said.

TEACHER DECLARES SHE WAS ABDUCTED

BOWLING GREEN, Nov. 19.--While Miss Dorothy Coriell, 26-year-old Rossford school teacher, was reported to be on the verge of collapse, authorities today took up a search for two young men whom she declared abducted her as she left a bus last night. She drove her 40 miles to a spot near Arcadia where they released her after robbing her of $6.40.

According to Miss Coriell, who is the daughter of E. E. Coriell, former Wood-co auditor and widely known official of the Knights of Pythias, she was grabbed by the two young men as she left the bus at Rossford about 7:30 last night.

Youth Loses Two Fingers In Explosion

Ashville Boy Taken to Hospital After Rocket, Left By Celebration, Is Blasted.

Ralph McNeal, 14-year-old twin son of Mrs. Martha McNeal, N. Long-st., Ashville, met with a distressing accident Saturday afternoon while playing with some powder which badly injured the thumb and two fingers of his right hand.

From information obtainable it is learned that he and several companions found a part of a rocket unexploded in Community park. The rocket was believed left after the Fourth of July celebration. The youths took the explosive to a vacant lot near the Norfolk & Western railroad in North Ashville and while the McNeal boy was busy pouring the powder from the rocket to a piece of tin on the ground, Ralph Myers, a playmate, struck a match and the whole charge was exploded. The McNeal boy's thumb and two fingers were badly torn.

The injured boy was at once taken to the office of Dr. R. S. Hosler who administered first aid. He was then taken to St. Francis hospital where Dr. Elliott Peters, a former Ashville resident, dressed the injury.

It was thought the thumb could be saved but portions of the two fingers were amputated. He will probably remain at the hospital for some time.

Coroner Returns Verdict of Accidental Death After Questioning

LEANING ON RIFLE

Leroy Starkey, William Tatman With Slain Boy

Hunting with a .22 caliber rifle, his parents did not know he possessed, Leslie Clemmons, 13, of Maplewood-ave, was dead today and two of his "buddies," Leroy Starkey, 13, and William Tatman, 14, were recounting a terrifying experience.

The Clemmons boy, a seventh grade pupil at Corwin-st. school, was shot through the right temple, the bullet lodging in the cranial cavity. After an investigation of all angles of the tragedy, Dr. C. E. Sowers, county coroner, pronounced death accidental. It was reported a further investigation might be made.

BOTH QUESTIONED

The Starkey and Tatman boys were questioned separately by Deputy Sheriff Bryant Custer and by Dr. Sowers and both confirmed Clemmons was shot while leaning on the rifle. The shooting happened about 1:15 p. m. Sunday on property owned by John Smith, S. Court-st., in a field near the junction of the Chesapeake and Ohio and Pennsylvania railroads, west of S. Court-st.

The boys had been playing the ball game at "the house" when the shooting started. Starkey and Tatman told officers that Clemmons took the rifle from the house and told them he had five bullets. They said they knew he had more than that. They walked down the Pennsylvania tracks for a short distance then started through the field. Clemmons shot at a sparrow, one of the boys said, then picked out a bolt on a fence gate as a target. "He wouldn't let either of us touch the gun," his playmates said.

"Les sat down on the ground," Starkey said, "and shot several times at the bolt. We (Starkey and Tatman) stayed back for him because we were afraid if he did hit the bolt the lead might fly back and hit us."

"After he had shot a while he was leaning on the gun when some way it went off and he fell back without saying anything."

RIFLE OLD ONE

The rifle was an old one with a substitute stock. The stock was not fastened tightly and would "break" to one side. The stock was apparently on the ground and the barrel straight up in the air when it discharged. Starkey demonstrated to officers how it happened.

OWN BRAIN - CHILD FATAL TO INVENTOR

CHICAGO, Nov. 19--On the threshold of fame and fortune for a discovery in organic chemistry of great industrial and commercial significance, Dr. Erich Von Gumbel-Faddege was dead here today, a victim of his brain-idea.

The 32-year-old Northwestern professor died as the result of inhaling hydrogen chloride, which soaked the lining of his lungs as he worked in his laboratory perfecting the finishing touches to his discovery of a rubber fabric as transparent as window glass.

One of his assistants said today that the invention is practically complete and that a large concern is about to proceed with commercial production. The fabric, he said, is impervious to water and will not decompose over a long period of time.

EIGHT BUCKEYES TO END GRID CAREERS

COLUMBUS, Nov. 19.—A tumultuous homecoming celebration of the 34 to 0 victory over Michigan last Saturday, which turned Columbus topsy-turvy for two days, became history today as the Buckeyes settled down to prepare for the last grid game of the season here next week.

Coach Francis Schmidt, Buckeye mentor, was to open the last week of grid practice today with light sessions. During the week the practice will become more serious, with the hope that an Ohio victory over Iowa might still give the Buckeyes at least a piece of the Big Ten championship.

Should Wisconsin beat Minnesota and Indiana win over Purdue, Ohio State, if it beats the Hawkeyes, would step into the first place in the Big Ten, now jointly occupied by Purdue and Minnesota.

HEEKIN BANGED UP

The 34 players which Schmidt used in defeating Michigan came out of the game with but slight injuries, trainer Tucker P. Smith said. Dick Heekin, halfback, suffered an injured knee, but to date that was the most serious casualty reported.

Ohio State's chances for a victory over the Hawkeyes today seemed bright.

Ossie Solem, Iowa coach who scouted the Buckeyes Saturday while his team rested out an open date, remarked about the Buckeye power on the forward wall, which continually broke through the Michigan line to smear Wolverine plays before they were even well under way.

Particularly bright on the defense was the work of Captain Regis Monahan and Inwood Smith at the guard posts.

EIGHT TO GRADUATE

Monahan was being looked upon here today as a possible All-American selection at one of the guard posts. He will close his collegiate football career against Iowa, as will eight more of the Buckeye regulars.

Damon (Buz) Wetzel, fullback; John McAfee, fullback; Davey Jones, halfback; George Neal, guard; Jack Smith, halfback; Lud Yards, tackle; Jim Scott, tackle; and Bud Cox, an end.

BY THE
SECOND GUESSER

WESLEYAN STOPPED

This Cincinnati Bearcat team looms as a possible champion of the Buckeye association today after its 13-6 victory over Ohio Wesleyan last Saturday. The Bearcats have only Miami to defeat to clinch the title. If Ohio Wesleyan defeats Ohio University at Delaware next Saturday the Bishops can gain a tie for the title providing Miami bumps Cincinnati—then Miami and Wesleyan would be tied.

OFFICIATING LURID

Wesleyan supporters didn't think much of the officiating in the Cincinnati game, two rulings, one after Joe Whalen made a long gain and another after Howard White sprinted for a nice gain, hurting the Bishop chances.

5 WRONG IN 15

Several unexpected upsets knocked the ears off predictions Saturday. The Second Guesser picked 15 of the top choices and had only 10 of them correct. He missed on Ohio Wesleyan and Cincinnati, Auburn and Florida, Duquesne and Pitt, Princeton and Yale and Illinois and Wisconsin. Those in which he was right were O. S. U. and Michigan, Purdue and Fordham, Tulane and Kentucky, Notre Dame and Northwestern, Columbia and Penn. College and Syracuse, Pitt and Navy, Tennessee and Vanderbilt, Minnesota and Chicago, and Ohio U. and Dayton.

SMITH REAL STAR

If ever an Ohio State linesman played an all-American game that is what Inwood Smith, Buckeye guard, did last Saturday. Smith, who pulls out of the line on defense, then slips into any spot he can find where there is a chance to break through, did about everything a linesman can possibly do. Time after time he was through the Michigan line smashing the play before it got underway. He made the first two tackles of the game.

YALE VICTORY ENDS RECORD

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 19.—Their hopes for a second undefeated season squelched by a determined Yale team which took the Tigers into camp Saturday, Princeton football fans looked back today on a glorious record: fifteen straight wins; seventeen contests without a defeat; 518 points against 40 for the opposition; 19 games without failing to score; 12 shut outs.

Defeat was an entirely new sensation for the Princeton sophomores and juniors, who never had previously played on a losing eleven, either freshman or varsity.

It was particularly tough on Garry Le Van, ace half back, who had hoped to go through his collegiate football days without having the opposition score while he was in the game.

ZUPPKE UPSET

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 19.—Coach Bob Zupke brought his Illinois home from Madison in excellent physical condition and downcast spiritually as a result of Wisconsin's victory and the crushing of the Illini's hope to share the conference championship. The varsity was excused from drill today. Two convalescents, Ed Gryboski and Crane Portman, will be available for the Chicago game Saturday.

MANDERS' TOE RETAINS LEAD FOR BEAR 11

Boots Field Goal to Give Chicago 10-9 Victory Over New York; Lions Lead.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The great winning streak of the Chicago Bears, National football league champions, remained intact today thanks to the educated toe of Jack Manders, whose field goal with only fifty seconds left to play enabled the Bears to nose out the New York Giants, 10 to 9, before 55,000 fans at the Polo grounds yesterday. It was pro football's second largest crowd of all time.

The game was a titanic and dramatic battle, featured by savage tackling and frequent fisticuffs, the latter being overlooked by the officials.

FUMBLE DOES IT

Trailing 9 to 0 with but eight minutes to play, the Bears drove 47 yards to a touchdown in four plays, Nagurski ripping the New York line to shreds and feathers scoring. Manders, rushed into the game, kicked the important extra point. A few minutes later he split the uprights for a field goal from the 24-yard line after Krause of the Giants fumbled.

Strong scored for the eastern leaders in the second period and they picked up two more points on a safety.

The Bears haven't been beaten in their last 29 games, including league and exhibition contests. They are tied with Detroit for first place in the western division of the league. Detroit swamped St. Louis yesterday, 40 to 7, for its tenth straight victory.

GREEN BAY BLANKED

Chicago's Cardinals blanked the Green Bay Packers 9 to 0 at Milwaukee. Griffith's 65-yard run for a touchdown featured.

Brooklyn whitewashed Pittsburgh 10 to 0 with Ralph Kercheval doing all the scoring. Jim Levy, former shortstop of the St. Louis Browns, starred for the losers.

Led by Cliff Battles, who scored both touchdowns, the Boston Redskins beat Philadelphia 14 to 7.

BRIGHTER OUTLOOK FOR 'BEEF' FEEDER

Huge Supplies of Year Ago Cut by Drouth and Demand For Cattle.

Dark a year ago, the outlook for the beef cattle feeder has been brightened by drouth and relief measures.

The abnormal supply of cattle on farms and ranges at the first of the year, estimated at 67 million head, has been cut to very near the normal supply on farms in 1928.

Even excluding the government slaughter of cattle for relief purposes, purchased from drouth-stricken farmers, the slaughter has been the largest on record. In other words, in 1934 American people ate 15 per cent more beef than they did a year ago.

Commercial slaughtering is expected to total 15 1/2 million head. Government purchases totaled 7 1/2 million head.

In July, August and September, farmers in the corn-belt states bought large supplies of stocker and feeder cattle. In the five eastern corn-belt states, where the drouth was less severe, farmers bought from the range country two and a half times as many cattle for winter feeding, in these three months.

But in October, feeder purchases dropped off so sharply that for the four-month period, July through October, the number bought for feeding in corn-belt feed lots was only 8 per cent greater than the number purchased a year ago.

The sharp reduction in supplies is expected to raise the general level of beef prices during the coming year. Ohio State University economists predict better grades of heavy cattle will bring substantial premiums over similar grades of lighter weight. No upswing is expected in cattle production until 1936, owing to depleted breeding herds and limited feed supplies.

Huey Brought to Book

LESS amenable to the wiles of Huey Long than the voters of Louisiana or the undergraduates of Louisiana State university, the supreme court of the United States has applied a legal quietus to that great defender of the common people.

The history of the Long Jibel suit is this. In the senate Huey made charges, reckless and rancorous after his manner, against one Samuel T. Ansell, a former judge advocate general of the army. Not satisfied with their appearance merely in the Congressional record, he published and circulated them. Sued for libel by General Ansell, our Mr. Long claimed immunity under a section of the constitution forbidding the arrest of congressmen, save for a capital crime, during attendance at the sessions of their respective houses and "going to and returning from the same."

Huey held that this immunity from arrest included immunity from service of a process in a civil suit—a theory now upset by the supreme court in ruling that he must face the music. Associate Justice Brandeis, declaring the unanimous opinion of the supreme court, says that there is no such immunity. Neither senate nor house has ever tried to assert it. The clause in the constitution means what it says. "Arrest" means "arrest." In 1787 arrest in civil suits was common. To such arrests only the clause in the constitution refers.

Freedom of speech on the floor of both houses of congress, of course, must be maintained for the public good, but the abuse of that privilege to allow a congressman to circulate defamatory matter without offering any legal recourse to the person who believes himself damaged, does not involve the public good. If Mr. Ansell thinks he has been libeled in that way, he should have the remedy that every American citizen has under such circumstances. And Senator Long is being accorded every protection that any other citizen deserves when he is given the privilege of a fair impartial trial.

There will be general satisfaction that Huey's unbridled violence of speech is at last to be answered for in a court of justice. It is a habit of some congressmen to make outrageous statements about respectable citizens. They are chartered liberties of libel so long as they don't exceed their privilege and, like Huey, scatter their libels outside their sanctuary. Huey is caught offside.

Mary Pickford denies that a reconciliation has been affected between her and Douglas Fairbanks. She's holding up the recovery program.

Food for Thought

THE question seems to have come up again in the metropolitan press whether we as a nation are going to "eat American" or "eat European." With their customary nostalgic sigh, editors of the newspapers in New York and elsewhere are eloquent in their longing for grilled lamb, chicken pie, spoonbread, gingerbread and brown butter (they always remember brown butter). These, it seems, are the old favorites that have succumbed to the French, the Greek, the Italian and even the Chinese. It is a sad demise this recurrent death of our national cockery, and they always make the most of it.

Our suffering over the culinary calamity has never attained these picturesque depths, and yet in a modest way we follow with interest any development in the national life so important as a trend in its cooking. There is reassurance, therefore, in the discovery that all is not yet lost. For quizzed in New York, a group of world travelers expressed a general opinion that American cooking is now on a par with that of France, and superior to practically all other nationalities. One went so far as to predict that in another 10 years French cooks will come to this country to find out about cooking.

Furthermore, it developed that American cooking was not swept entirely away on the tide of goulash and chop suey that flooded the large cities. It was, it seems,

CAROLINE by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

SYNOPSIS
The Philip Rutledge and Henry Dunsworths have been enemies for years, but love sometimes laughs at feuds, so Howard Dunsworth becomes engaged to lovely Caroline Rutledge despite their parents' opposition. Then Henry ruins Philip in business. This changes everything. "If we marry my father will cut me off, and if I know you, it wouldn't please you any more to be poor than it would me," Howard tells Caroline. Disappointed that money should mean so much to Howard, Caroline breaks their engagement. Another crushing blow falls when Philip tells Caroline and her mother, Alva—a pampered, selfish woman—that they must vacate "Hawthorn," their lovely home, and live in a poorer section of town. Caroline had never attributed strength to her mother, but she expected her to carry through gracefully instead of giving away to her emotions as she had. Caroline is doubly disappointed when her father, whom she thought capable of meeting any emergency, accepts defeat. Returning from a ride, Caroline learns that Howard repudiated, but she refuses to call him, saying, "Howard will have to come back to me unasked." Their financial status has given Mrs. Rutledge a change of heart where Howard is concerned. "Beggars cannot be choosers," she reminds Caroline. Howard takes a trip to California. The Rutledges leave "Hawthorn" and go to their future home, an unpretentious dwelling on the south side of town. Alva collapses from shock and fatigue. Their neighbors, Mrs. Stuart and her son, Malcolm, come to the Rutledges' assistance. When the Stuarts offer to get some food, Mr. Rutledge began to feel that their kindness was more than he cared to accept from "these people." Caroline senses her father's subtle snobbishness and felt he had no right to refuse help when he had been shifting most of the burden to her shoulders. Defiantly, Caroline asks Mrs. Stuart to stay and create a little cheer while she goes with Malcolm for food.

CHAPTER XII
Caroline had packed one of her legs with things she wanted for immediate use. On the top of the pile of silken garments she had put her framed photograph of Howard Dunsworth. She had taken the bag that night, his likeness looked up at her with the pleasant smile that had seemed to her to mean a kind nature.

She took the photograph up, placed it on her dressing table under the best light she had and sat down to let her hungry gaze feast upon it. Soon the features were dimmed by the mist of tears in her eyes.

"But you aren't kind," she said softly aloud. "You have beautiful waves in your hair and a handsome nose, Howard, and your blue eyes can look into mine and tell me how you would win a child to give you his lollypop, but... you'd take the lollypop and you'd keep it too, and you'd let the girl drop out of heaven without bothering to turn around to see if she had left her lollypop. I love you so that... so that... I don't want to live."

She sobbed softly, bowed over her arms that encircled the photograph, remembering that her mother was in the room next to hers... probably lying awake torturing her mind with regrets. Caroline said to herself as she forced back her tears, wiped away those that had fallen on the glass of the picture, and put it away in a drawer.

"I wonder," she thought later that night as she lay in bed, refreshed by a warm bath. "Malcolm had built up a fire in the little stove that heated the water—'If all sweet smiles are false, No, I can't believe it. Certainly no one could have a pleasanter smile than Malcolm Stuart's, and he's a darling. What a horrible night this would have been without him! His eyes are blue too, like Howard's... only they sort of smile... how Father did enjoy that apple pie even if he was speechless with annoyance... poor Father... Malcolm said the sedan was a dandy critter, he'd tighten the straps on his hands on the wheel... his hands could be like smiles... he had good hands... they'd never grasp feebly at happiness... if you... fell... out... of... heaven..."

Down, down, down, she went plunging on and on and then suddenly she was steadied by strong brown hands that held her tenderly. Laughter floated about her... things she reached for disappeared... and came back in those hands that were like friends to her. Some one hurt her by saying no no no... we can't... someone flying by her... leaving her broken...

kept alive by private families in small towns and villages and in country hotels conducted by descendants of Colonial stock. Now a powerful renaissance is apparent. Women have been commissioned by publishers to go about the country collecting recipes for the best dishes of each state. One New York bookshop has even had a book of choice from ten cents to sixteen dollars, all rich in American recipes. Veteran trenchermen can again put their legs under the mahogany and enjoy the dishes fondly remembered from the days of childhood and youth. The era of cooking derived from France and transmitted through Swiss and Greek interpreters did not rout the native dishes.

AT THE CLIFTONA
Sounding the modern note of intimacy and searching psychological reaction typical of the Noel Coward period, one of the most important pictures of the year at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer boasts a cast of only four major players. And while the cast of "Chained" is small, it is also potent. Clark Gable and Joan Crawford are co-starring with Otto Kruger and Stuart Erwin in support. The film is now showing at the Cliftona Theatre.

There are other players of note on the official cast sheet, but the modern story deals primarily with these four.

Written especially for the screen, and for the co-stars, as is the present trend, by Edgar Selwyn, noted director and producer, the photo story picks up the life thread of a wealthy shipping magnate, Otto Kruger, and the girl with whom he is enamored, Joan Crawford.

AT THE GRAND
Will Rogers' first adagio dance will be witnessed with the release of his newly completed picture, "Handy Andy," at the Grand Theatre.

The story of what happened to a business man who finally listened to his wife's pleas that he retire from business and learn to play.

The adagio dance is a feature of a New Orleans Mardi Gras celebration and finds Rogers tripping literally—the fairly light fantastic in dance with Conchita Montenegro. At times in pink tights and a leopard skin, Rogers amazed Director David Butler, the camera crew, electricians, extras on the ballroom set—and himself.

"First time I ever tried that," he said at the finish, "but, of course, when a feller's been in the 'Follies' like I have, well..."

Head Noises Should Not Be Ignored

When Persistent They Usually Indicate a Serious Disturbance

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

HEAD NOISES or ringing in the ears is an annoying affliction. To the doctor the symptom is known as "tinnitus." As a rule it is an indication of some physical disturbance in the ear. But it may be a sign of some disease of the blood vessels, such as hardening of the arteries. It is a chronic disturbance that is often stubborn and difficult to cure.

If you live in a large city and travel in the subway, you experience a peculiar ringing sound in the ear when the train goes under the river. This is due to a change in air pressure and the closing and opening of the "Eustachian tube" that leads from the back of the nose and throat to the middle of the ear. A similar sensation is felt when going up a mountain or riding in an airplane.

The sufferer from tinnitus may complain of this peculiar sensation all the time or occasionally. For example, some describe it as a continuous roaring sound while others say it resembles the ringing of bells, the rushing of steam or air, the sound of the ocean, music or even spoken words.

The noises may be so distracting and annoying as to prevent sleep and rest. There are occasions when the victim becomes so upset and nervous that he appears to be on the verge of insanity. In the days of superstition and ignorance sufferers from tinnitus were believed to be the victims of evil spirits located within the skull.

A Warning of Trouble
Since tinnitus is not a disease but a symptom of some disturbance, it is imperative that proper medical attention be sought. A complete physical examination and careful inspection of the nose, throat and ears are essential if well directed treatment is to be expected. Bear in mind that even though the discomfort is mild in the beginning, neglect will result in a severe and chronic trouble.

Certain disturbances of the middle ear, such as catarrh and inflammation of the ear drum, may be the underlying cause. Enlarged and diseased tonsils is another possible cause. Dried and impacted ear wax, polyps, tumors and foreign bodies in the canal of the ear, and many of the factors that should not be overlooked in such cases removal of the offending substance or growth, or correction of the deformity is sufficient for complete cure.

Head noises that occur during an acute inflammation of the throat or during a severe head cold need cause no undue alarm. Though these may persist for several days they disappear as soon as the acute inflammation subsides. But persistent head noises require immediate attention and should never be neglected. Serious and permanent damage, as well as prolonged suffering, can be avoided by prompt medical attention.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

THE Worst Joke I heard today was told to me by Miss Belle Astaire, of the Astaires. You know the brother and sister, Fred and Belle Astaire, who have made such a tremendous hit in "Lady Be Good." They are over here in London now, and they are a very big success. She was out to the Studio today with Miss Dorothy Gish, who I am playing in a Picture with. You know when an Actor or Actress has nothing else to do they go and see some other one work. She had her Mother with her and I didn't get any real chance to have a good chat with her. At the table I heard the following and advised her at the finish to go into her dance.

"I hear young Smith has gone on the stage for good now. How is he doing?" "Jolly well, I hear," said the friend. "They say he is making a great hit as a Male Impersonator."

On The Spot

San Francisco's popular Frank Belgrano, new National Commander of the American Legion, is on the spot in a royal way.

Electing at the Miami convention that went on record in favor of immediate payment of the bonus, Belgrano has no choice but to go down the line for that policy.

But going down the line is going to be a bitter pill for Belgrano. He is an executive of a large California banking firm, as well as an official of two national insurance companies. Both those interests have been in the vanguard of the opposition to immediate bonus payment.

Golfer

Three days in Washington under the conservative tutelage of his colleague, Senator Pat Harrison, had marked moderating influence on Mississippi's wildman, Senator-elect Theodore Bilbo.

But the little haranguer wasn't too tame to boast to RFC Chairman Jesse Jones how he got a golf course on his farm down south.

The two men were sitting in the White House waiting room waiting to keep appointments with the President. Jones, a skilled golfer brought up the subject of the game.

"Senator," he said, "do you like the game?" "I certainly do," Bilbo replied, "and I like to have my golf course handy. So I rounded up a bunch of CCC boys working in my neighborhood and had them lay out a few holes on my farm. Mighty convenient, I can tell you."

went on, "we ran to him and saw he was bleeding. He didn't yell at all but just laid there."

The two boys half-carried and half-dragged him more than 100 yards through a field before they left him to run for help. "His heart was still beating when we left him," Starkey said.

Deputy Custer was the first officer called. He went to the scene and warned a crowd already gathered there not to touch the body until Coroner Bowers came. The coroner was summoned from near Lancaster where his father, John F. Bowers, had succumbed Saturday night.

Clemmons had taken Clemmons' plasters to the sheriff's office for questioning before the coroner arrived. The body was turned over to M. S. Rinehart.

Clemmons' father, John Clemmons, is a section employee of the Norfolk & Western railroad. His mother was placed under the care of a physician after she was told of the accident.

Starkey, who lives at 617 Maplewood-ave, is a son of Thomas Starkey, while Tatman, a resident of 739 S. Scioto-st, is a stepson of Francis Tatman.

TOSSED GUN ASIDE

The .22 caliber rifle was tossed for finger prints by Deputy Miller Fissell since both boys said they did not handle it prior to the shooting, but Starkey said that when they ran to Clemmons the gun was lying across his body and that one of them had tossed it aside.

Three cartridges were found on the ground over the course the boys had followed in carrying the Clemmons youth and three more were found in his pockets.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 10 a. m. at the Church of Christ in Christian Union, Rev. O. L. Ferguson officiating for the Clemmons boy. Burial will be in Forest cemetery by M. S. Rinehart.

Besides his parents the youth is survived by a brother, Richard.

TRIO CLAIMED IN OHIO WEEK END CRASHES

No Fatalities Reported In Traffic To Football Game; Pedestrian Hit.

By International News Service

Autos which crowded Ohio streets and highways Saturday and Sunday today had claimed only three lives, the lowest week-end traffic toll record for the state in months.

Despite the football games throughout the state and the autumnal weather, which attracted throngs to the roads, only one of the three fatalities reported was on a highway. Accidents in Cincinnati and Cleveland claimed the other two lives.

The dead were:

Frank Adams, 68, of New Lexington.

Holger L. Hass, 59, of Lakewood.

Bruce L. Carter, 35, Cincinnati.

Adams, a contractor in New Lexington, was killed late Saturday while walking on a road outside of the town. He was struck by an auto driven by Robert Starnes.

Hass was fatally injured in Cleveland when his auto crashed into a tree.

A hit-skip driver was blamed for the Cincinnati death after Carter, a garage mechanic, died of injuries received Saturday when he was struck by an unidentified auto.

In Columbus, mecca of thousands for the Ohio State-Michigan football game, no fatalities were reported, although a dozen persons were injured in auto accidents.

Mrs. Catherine Ford, 24, narrowly escaped death when her car was struck by a passenger train on a grade crossing in the city.

FOG FILLS LONDON

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Shipping in the Thames river was at a standstill and traffic in the metropolis barely crawled through the fog-filled streets as the worst fog of the year wrapped London in a blanket of mist and smoke today.

Street accidents were numerous and several persons were slightly injured in collisions between street cars and automobiles. Thousands walked to and from work because omnibus traffic was tied up.

Suburban trains ran from a quarter to half an hour behind schedule.

WALNUT-TWP SCHOOL NOTES

The Walnut chapter of Future Farmers held its meeting Monday evening, Nov. 5. The meeting was opened by president Ralph Dunkel. Minutes of the last meeting were read by Secretary Hugh Huffer. The meeting was then opened for business. November 27 was the date decided for the minstrel. It was decided to have an F. F. A. basketball team. Alvin Barr, Harley Hines and Paul Teegardin were elected honorary members because of their active interest in the F. F. A. Alvin Barr has coached apple judging and instructed boys in the art of pruning. Mr. Teegardin and Mr. Hines have provided beef cattle and dairy cattle and also their time in order that we might develop better judging teams in these classes. After the meeting was adjourned a few games were enjoyed by all.

Health Talks Given Throughout the School

Mrs. Mary Cartwright of Delaware visited Walnut schools Tuesday, Nov. 6. She visits elementary and high schools, and colleges, speaking as a member of the State Department of Health and working toward the advancement of healthful situations and activities. In high schools and colleges she deals largely with problems of girls and boys that arise from their relations with each other. She is a mother and a grandmother, and her advice comes from her experience with her own family relation. Mrs. Cartwright met the lower grades in three groups. Later she met the high school boys and girls in separate groups for more intimate talks. Several had personal conferences with Mrs. Cartwright in which their own problems were discussed.

ed. It is hoped to have Mrs. Cartwright speak at a P. T. A. meeting this year.

NO MORE ENERGY? ... GET A LIFT WITH A CAMEL!

● Whether their daily tasks carry them through crowded city streets, or deep impenetrable jungles, Camel smokers in all walks of life agree on the delightful "lift" they get from smoking a Camel. Mrs. William LaVarre, famous explorer, whose treks through dangerous South American jungles have taught her the vital necessity of keeping up her energy reserve, has this to say about Camels: "We took 30,000 Camels with us on our last expedition. Any time I'm tired, I just stop and smoke a Camel. It wakes up my energy in no time. And smoking Camels steadily, I find, does not affect one's nerves."
